

Erin Buttery

Erin Buttery received a bachelor degree in Clinical Laboratory Science from The University of Texas Pan American (UTPA). She is a Certified Medical Technologist with the American Society of Clinical Pathologists (ASCP) and a CLS or Clinical Laboratory Scientist from the National Credentialing Agency (NCA) for Laboratory Personnel. In addition, she obtained her licensure from the state of Nevada for Clinical Laboratory Technologist. In 2006, she attained a Masters of Business Administration (MBA) from Regis University.

At this time, she is a Clinical Laboratory Scientist for Southern Nevada Public Health Laboratory where she is involved in molecular testing and foodborne outbreak investigations. Prior to the Southern Nevada Public Health Laboratory, she was employed by hospitals and reference laboratories as a Medical Technologist where she worked in the microbiology and hematology departments.