

Commander Roger Goodman has been working for the US EPA for 18 years. He is currently the Acting Center Director of the Center for Environmental Restoration, Monitoring and Emergency Response. He has a B.S Degree Health Physics from UNLV and an M.S. Degree in Health Physics from Georgetown University.